Instructions to examiners appointed for valuation

- The examiners appointed for valuation of theory answer booklets shall produce the appointment letter to the custodian to take up the valuation work.
- They shall maintain strict confidentiality regarding their appointment. In case any candidate, parent, guardian, teacher or any other person approaches them for favours, the matter shall be immediately intimated to the Controller of Examinations.

- If the examiner suspects malpractice of any kind in answer script, he shall immediately bring it (before valuing it) to the notice of the Controller of Examinations.
- Valuation shall be done carefully, meticulously and objectively as per the scheme & solutions. Ensure correctness of assessment.
- The valuation shall be done only in the notified Central Valuation Hall as per the timings announced.
- If an answered question is not awarded any marks, the word “Zero” shall be entered in the corresponding box.
- If a question has not been attempted or answered “NA” (Not Answered) shall be entered in the corresponding question number box.
- The examiner shall carefully check the number of questions answered and also whether all answers have been valued.
- If candidates have answered more questions than stipulated where candidates have choice, valuers shall have to value ALL answers written and consider the marks of ONLY the stipulated number of questions to the benefit of the candidates. Other questions to be marked as EXTRA in the Score Sheet.
- The total marks awarded shall be entered both in figures and words in the space provided. Fractions if any in the total shall be rounded off to the next higher integer. The total marks shall be checked for correctness.
- After valuation, all the answer booklets and Score Sheets shall be handed over to the custodian, before leaving the hall.
- Examiners shall follow the instructions as per the guidelines displayed on the screen for onscreen marking.
- The examiners shall maintain the decorum in the valuation centre

Theory paper valuation procedure

Theory paper shall be subjected to double evaluation by the internal and external examiner separately. If the difference between the first valuer and second valuer is more than 15 %, the paper will be valued by the third valuer. The average marks between two nearest values (to the advantage of the student) of three examiners are taken as theory marks. For MD, MS and MDS papers, the evaluation will be done by four examiners, two internals and two externals. The average of the four values is taken as theory marks.

Retotalling

Students can apply for retotalling of marks within ten days of declaration of results by paying the stipulated fee.

Answer Script Viewing

Students desirous of viewing the answer script shall apply to the Controller of Examination within 10 days of declaration of results by paying the stipulated fee.
